The Bridge Now Spans the Ohio River at Shawneetown; Autos Roll Along New Approach to Old Shawnee

THE BRIDGE ISN'T FINISHED, but the gap from Kentucky to Illinois has been closed, as the top photo shows. The picture was taken looking to the southeast from the levee above the fish docks at Old Shawneetown. Workers said there is still much heavy work to be done and much paving to do and that the April 1 date set for opening still stands.

Mrs. Woodward Found Blameless By Grand Jury

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Ann Woodward, found blameless by a grand jury in the shotgun slaying of her millionaire husband, secluded herself in her Manhattan apartment today and tried to forget the tragedy that struck four weeks ago.

A Nassau county grand jury Friday night refused to indict Mrs. Woodward who said she shot her husband Oct. 30 in a darkened hallway of their Long Island home thinking he was a burglar who had been prowling the estate.

Before beginning its 25 minutes of deliberation, the jury heard nine hours of testimony from witnesses who ranged from a confessed sneak thief to members of society's select "400."

Mrs. Woodward left the courthouse as soon as the jury finished its deliberation and shuffled slowly to her waiting automobile which took her to the Woodward town house. She was sobbing uncontrollably when she moved slowly through the waiting crowd and seemed oblivious of the glare of flashbulbs and the questions of reporters.

"She prays that she may now be left alone with her children," her attorney told newsmen. The Woodwards had two children. Mrs. Woodward's relief that she was no longer under official suspicion for her husband's death came when the jury filed out and the foreman announced that the panel had decided on three burglary indictments against Paul Wirths Jr., 23, a German national.

Wirths testified that he was attempting to gain entrance to the Woodward home and had walked noisily across a flat roof on the night that Woodward died. He was indicted for three other burglaries, however, and was not charged in the Woodward case. After handing up the indictments against Wirths, the foreman's hands were empty and it was obvious that the jury had decided Mrs. Woodward was guilty of no crime. Should evidence be found in the future, she still could be indicted but the investigation is officially closed.

Witnesses who filed into the court room included Mrs. John T. Pratt, sister of the slain millionaire sportsman; Mrs. David Gimbel, and Mrs. John Schiff.

Window Washer Killed in Fall

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—William Davis, about 45, Bloomington, employed by the Model Window Cleaners, was killed Friday in a fall from a second-story ledge of the National Bank of Bloomington. Davis died en route to St. Joseph's Hospital in a fire department rescue squad ambulance. Police said the window cleaner had not been wearing safety equipment while working on the ledge.

THE NEW PAVING which forms the two and a half mile approach from a point just east of the Shawneetown high school to the new bridge is completed and traffic is moving on this project, which was done under contract by the J. D. Barter Construction Co. of Harrisburg, to a barricade on the road from where the photo above was taken. There it is routed north to the old road over a newly-paved spur which hits the old road a short distance west of the old town. There also is a spur leading to old Route 13 west of the fairgrounds. Although the paving is laid, it has not yet been open to the public. A long stretch of old Route 13 between New Shawneetown and the spur midway along the approach is being torn out. There is still work to be done along the approach, although the main paving job is done. (Daily Register Staff Photos)

Entries by Farm Youngsters Take Spotlight at Livestock Show

CHICAGO (AP)—The boys and girls grabbed the spotlight on the first full day of the 56th annual International Livestock Exposition today.

More than 350 farm youngsters from 13 states were scheduled to lead 361 steers and 66 hogs into the main judging arena at the International Amphitheatre.

In recent years, the grand champion steer has often turned out to be the property of some proud farm boy or girl. But Shorty II, who represents 17-year-old Janice Hullinger's hopes of snaring the top ribbon for the second year running, was not among today's entries. The steer caught pneumonia during its trip from Manley, Iowa, and was placed in an oxygen tent Friday.

First Ribbon Awarded. Veterinarian William G. Bauman examined Shorty and said the steer has passed the crisis but was still too sick to compete.

The boys and girls shared today's program with 43 teams of college agriculture students from 37 states who matched their ability to judge livestock on the hoof. The big farm exposition opened formally Friday night, but the show's first blue ribbon had already been awarded.

The prize for the on-the-hoof phase of the carcass competition went to Elmer, a 1,054-pound Aberdeen Angus steer owned by 13-year-old Jane Turner, Champaign, Ill.

Purdue Cops Two Prizes. It was the second straight year that Jane's entry has taken first place in the contest. Under the rules of the competition, the livestock will be judged again after it is slaughtered. Purdue university won two grand

Marion Pearce Home is Damaged by Fire

The home of Marion Pearce at 605 West Logan street was damaged by fire late yesterday.

The rear of the house was damaged extensively but prompt work by the fire department saved the structure from total loss.

Fire Chief L. G. Martin said the department received the call at 6:25 p. m. and when it arrived flames were blazing out of the roof.

Damage was confined to the back porch, kitchen and roof, he said, with damage to some of the contents of the kitchen. Contents of the other rooms were removed.

Chief Martin said the fire started on a screened-in back porch, that the origin was not determined. Mr. Pearce was working and Mrs. Pearce was at the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Rufus Griffiths, at the time the fire was seen. Seeing the fire and calling the department was Miss Mary Sisk, who resides across the street.

The Pearces today were moving into a house they had rented until their home could be repaired, Martin said.

At 12:30 p. m. yesterday the fire department extinguished a grass blaze at 415 North Granger street.

Davis Rites at Eldorado Sunday

Funeral services for James L. Davis, Eldorado, who was found dead yesterday morning at his home on the Gates Coal Yard property, will be Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at the Martin funeral home. Rev. Lester Ragland will officiate and burial will be in Wolf Creek cemetery.

Signs Contract To Deliver Speedy Craft

Slower Models Already Delivered, Reports Claim

PARIS (AP)—France has signed contracts to sell Mystere II jet fighter planes to Israel and already has shipped 12 slower "Ouragan" models, authoritative sources said today.

The disclosure came after the recent French agreement to resume shipment of jet planes to Egypt also.

The Mystere II, a match for the famous Soviet MIG15, has not been shipped to Israel. It was believed the French government has not yet given the final okay for their export, but authoritative sources said the contracts have been signed.

The Ouragans — French for "Gale" — should be in Israel by now, the sources said. By modern jet standards the planes are obsolescent. They have a top speed of only around 475 miles an hour but are excellent training planes and may also be battle worthy in the Middle East.

The Ouragans were reported spotted en route at Oiapmino Airfield in Italy, but deliveries of the Mystere II already are overdue and mass production has moved slowly.

In Tel Aviv, Israel sources described as "absurd" published reports abroad that 8 to 10 French jet fighters had been shipped to Israel via Rome in the past 48 hours. The London News Chronicle said 10 were already in Israel and 40 more were en route.

The Mystere II, manufactured by Marcel, has a top speed of 685 miles per hour and can break the sound barrier in diving. It is equipped with two 30-millimeter guns, the Ouragan with four 20-mm guns.

Experts here said the Ouragans — many of which have been sold to India — would be useless against Russian MIGs but that they would enable Israeli pilots to train for the speedier jet fighters.

Stephen Mitchell Enters Race For Governor

PAXTON, Ill. (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The 52-year-old Chicago lawyer became the second avowed candidate for the nomination. Morris B. Sachs, city treasurer in Chicago has said he will run for the office, as a Democrat or as an independent if he fails to get the party nod.

Mitchell made his announcement at a luncheon of family friends and downtown party leaders arranged by Democratic State Rep. Joe W. Russell of Piper City.

He said he had "evidence of considerable support now" and hoped for "much more support" to come. Mitchell said he will seek the gubernatorial nomination "by every proper means."

No one has announced for governor yet in the Republican ranks, but GOP Gov. William G. Stratton is expected to seek another term.

Mitchell first came into the political limelight in 1952, when presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson chose him to be chairman of the Democratic National Committee. He held that post until last Jan. 1.

Mitchell has practiced law in Chicago since 1932. During World War II he held positions with the Lend-Lease Administration and the State Department. He was a backer of Stevenson in Stevenson's successful campaign for governor in 1948.

Frozen Body of Man Shot Between Eyes Believed Kidnaped Bank Cashier

CLEAR LAKE, Minn. (AP)—Authorities were certain today that the frozen body of a man shot between the eyes is that of missing bank cashier Kenneth Lindbergh, victim of a slick holdup-kidnap plot.

An autopsy was scheduled to make the identification official. But cards and clothing found on the snow-covered body late Friday removed practically all doubt concerning Lindbergh's fate.

FBI agents joined local authorities in searching the pasture where three brothers, out rabbit-hunting, came upon the body. A relative was also scheduled to arrive from Thief River Falls, Minn., Lindbergh's hometown, to view the body.

Lindbergh, 44, disappeared from the northern Minnesota town exactly two weeks ago on Nov. 12 after huddling with a mysterious stranger for two hours in the back room of the Northern State Bank.

Disappeared With $14,000. With him went $14,000 in negotiable travelers checks and $1,750 in coins. All but $220 of the coins were later found in Lindbergh's abandoned car in Minneapolis. Attempts to cash the travelers checks have been made in Detroit and Chicago.

The dark, well-dressed stranger had given Lindbergh advance no-

Arrest Five at St. Louis; Seize $105,000 Heroin

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Five Chicagoans have been arrested in St. Louis and an estimated $105,000 in heroin has been seized.

The four men and a woman were arrested on suppressed federal grand jury indictments. The last one was seized Thursday.

Renato Costarella, agent in charge of the Federal Narcotics Bureau here, said the ring was broken up following a 10-day inquiry. He said a large amount of narcotics was seized.

Those under arrest are Miss Margo De Carlos, Rayfield Jackson, Willie Robinson, William C. Coleman and Charles H. Phillips. All are Chicago Negroes.

Frank Cook Dies at Wasson

Frank Cook, 69, retired coal miner living in the Wasson community, died at 3 a. m. today at his home.

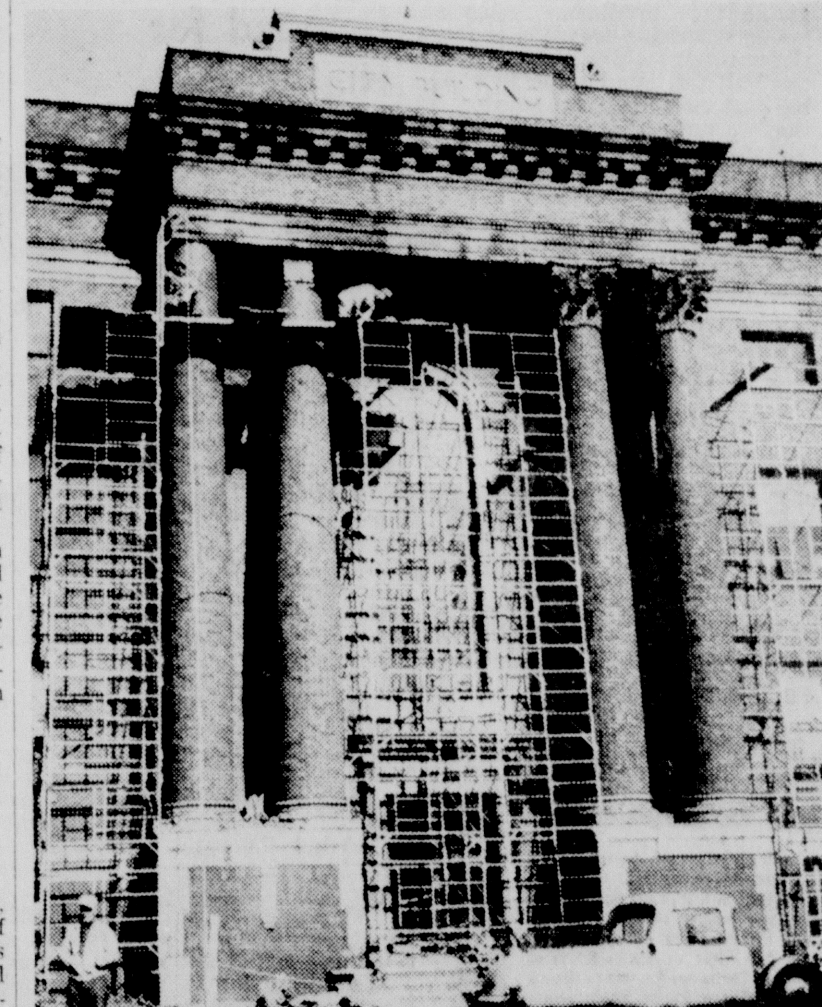

He leaves his wife, Bertha Baker Cook; a son, Bob Cook, Harrisburg; a stepson, Wayne Baker of Evansville, Ind.; and a sister, Mrs. Louise Martin of Bay City, Mich., also three grandchildren.

Mr. Cook was last employed at the Wasson coal mine.

He was a member of the First Baptist church. The body lies in state at the Martin funeral home in Eldorado where services will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. O. C. Cooper will officiate and burial will be in Wolf Creek cemetery.

Thompson was reported missing Friday after he and a companion went duck hunting in the area.

Face Lifting at City Hall

THOSE FOUR MASSIVE COLUMNS in front of the Harrisburg city building are being reworked to eliminate a hazard which has prevailed for several years. The ornamental work at the top, as seen in the two at the right, is deteriorating and is being removed. On scaffolding are Joe Barnes (left) and Pete Bertino and ground employee is Floyd Woolard, all working for the Wilson Cabinet Co. of Harrisburg, which is doing the job. The first column already has been bricked following the removal of the ornament and the second column is ready for a brick-laying job. When the top is completed, the bases will undergo similar treatment. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

450 Americans Include Son of Gen. Van Fleet

Renewal of Prisoner Issue Results from Geneva Conference

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The United Nations command renewed its demand today that the Communists account for 450 Americans missing in the Korean War, including the son of Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

The American-led command also called for information on 2,224 South Korean soldiers and 45 other Allied prisoners. All of the prisoners including the Americans were reported alive when the war ended. Nothing further was ever heard of them.

Rear Adm. Roger E. Moore, the chief U.N. delegate who delivered the demand at a full dress meeting of the Korean Armistice Commission, told newsmen afterwards the missing Americans included 244 soldiers, 190 airmen, 13 marines and three sailors.

Today's meeting — the first in weeks — was called by the Americans to discuss specifically the missing allied troops.

Rejected Earlier Demands

The Communist truce commission delegates walked out or ignored earlier demands for an accounting but today they accepted it for study "with reservations." Moore said he was "hopeful" the Communists "might" possibly do what they had long refused to do and tell us what happened to these personnel.

However, Moore added that Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rok, the Communist chief delegate, was "not at all responsible to the proposal." Moore said Chung used a reply used by the Reds many times before—that all prisoners were repatriated or accounted for when the war ended more than two years ago.

Moore insisted the Allies had "reason to believe" all of the men on the 128-page list had been alive while in Communist custody. There never has been public disclosure of what basis officials had for their belief that the prisoners, including Air Force Capt. James A. Van Fleet Jr. were alive.

Result of Geneva Talks

Moore said the U. N. command's renewal of the demand for an accounting resulted from the Geneva ambassadorial talks between the United States and Communist China.

He said U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Communist Ambassador Wang Pingnan discussed the missing prisoners at Geneva and "Mr. Wang insisted that the proper channel for this discussion was the military armistice commission."

"We concur," the admiral said. The Communist commission member again raised the issue of 21,000 North Koreans who were released by Korean guards under orders of President Syngman Rhee after the armistice. Gen. Mark Clark's instructions shortly before the armistice was signed July 27, 1953.

Ex-U. S. Attorney Appointed to Defend Graham

DENVER (AP)—Former U. S. Atty. Charles S. Vigil, who successfully prosecuted Colorado's most notorious gamblers, will defend 23-year-old John Gilbert Graham against the charge he murdered his mother by bombing the airliner in which 44 persons died.

District Judge Edgar J. Keating, who declared Graham indigent and unable to engage competent counsel on his own, also appointed John J. Gibbons, a prominent criminal defense attorney, and Paul Weadick of Denver to the defense late Friday.

Graham is charged with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Daisey King, 54, a passenger on the United Air Lines DC6B that exploded and crashed near Longmont, Colo., on Nov. 1, killing everyone aboard. Graham was charged with planting a dynamite time bomb in his mother's luggage after insuring her life for $37,500.

Keating said he would confer with the defense counsel today and give them copies of the criminal information for study. He urged them to confer with Graham at county jail today or Sunday for preparation of the defendant's arraignment on Monday.

University of Illinois Experiment Station

(A round-up of the week's work, activities, and observations at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station near Robbs in southern Illinois, prepared by the Station's staff.)

Fall Plowing

Most of the Station fields grow pasture nearly every year. These pastures become thin and unproductive and need renovation every few years. One renovation system is to grow a corn crop followed by small grain with the new pasture
seeded in the small grain.

We are now plowing some of the old pastures. The plowing crew is being careful because fall plowing can be costly in soil losses. They are plowing deep and on the contour, but are leaving the grass waterways and the steep slopes. An old pasture sod is rich in fibrous roots. If you plow it deeply enough and leave it in the rough, it will readily absorb water and slow down runoff so that soil losses will be amazingly low.

Bang's Vaccination and Bulls

This past week during cattle round-up the heifer calves, but not the bulls, were vaccinated against brucellosis with "Strain 19" vaccine. At least two cattlemen during the past week have asked why they should not vaccinate their bull calves. Our Station veterinarian's answer is worth passing on. Dr.
Mansfield says that, first, bulls are only rarely infected with Bang's disease, and therefore vaccination is not necessary. Second, he says that in bulls the brucella infection is often seated in the testes. Vacinating bulls runs the risk of making them sterile or unserviceable.
Mansfield's advice is not to vaccinate bull calves but to buy and sell them on a brucellosis-free basis.

Keep the Bull Thrifty

During the off- or non-breeding season, many of us who are busy giving the producing cows and young stock the best of care forget the bull. It isn't necessary to keep the bull fat, but he should always be kept in a thrifty condition. By that we mean that you should feed him for health and smooth flesh-ing. This winter a bull that has been worked hard and has lost weight may need five to six pounds
of grain daily in addition to a liberal roughage ration. A beef bull that needs continuous heavy grain

feeding to keep his weight shows poor feeding qualities and should be disposed of. A bull with fair fleshing now may be taken through the winter very well on about 20 pounds of corn silage and 12 to 14 pounds of legume hay. As breeding season approaches, you can add grain to his ration.

Exercise is important for a bull.
Close confinement often impairs his breeding ability and does not help his disposition. On the Station several bulls are run together in a large lot. They work off steam pushing one another around and rarely become bad tempered.

Need Strong Corral

Following round-up, calf weaning is another reason for having a good corral. Besides making it easier to work beef cows, a well-built corral can serve as a weaning-off pen. The best pasture fences are not enough to hold a cow with a strong mother instinct when her calf is taken from her. A strong corral will relieve the cattleman of the discouraging job of constantly looking up stray cows and will keep them off roads and highways,
where they are a hazard to motorists. Four or five days is long enough for a cow to grow accustomed to a recent weaning and settle down. Also, cows in a good corral may be watched for full udders and easily caught and milked if necessary.

Tattooing Ewes

At the sheep barns last week,
Norris Phelps, sheep herdsman,
ear-tagged about 200 head of yearling ewes that had been bought last summer. Ear tags help Norris get ready for the lambing season
by keeping a production record on each ewe. The metal ear tags are easy to read but are sometimes lost, causing the ewes' identity to be lost. Just to be sure, Norris ear-tattoos each ewe in addition to putting on the metal tags.

Demand for High-Protein Feed Increasing

The supply of high-protein livestock feeds has more than doubled since the 1935-39 period. And most of the increase has come from an Illinois product, soybeans.

C. M. Wells, Jr., and R. J. Mut-ti, farm economist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, report that soybean oil meal
now makes up almost half of the total supply. Ten years ago soybean oil meal made up only about 35 percent of the total.

Quality of the protein has improved too. The economists point out that the high-quality proteins
—soybean meal, fish meal, meat scraps and tankage—now make up 60 percent of the total supply compared with less than 50 percent as late as five years ago.

Wells and Mutti say that the potential demand for protein feed is still not satisfied. One indication is the fact that since 1948 prices of high-protein feed have held strong in spite of the increased supply. In only one year since 1948 has the ratio of high-protein feed prices to corn prices been below the 1935-39 level.

The number of livestock units
consuming high-protein feed is up somewhat, but not nearly so much as the protein supply. Consumption per animal, however, has been steadily increasing at an average rate of about three percent a year.

Eight electric utility plants serving the State of Maryland used coal exclusively in 1954 as fuel to produce power.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

Farm safety is an individual job.
Most persons will agree that farming is a hazardous business. They need only scan the news columns of the country's newspapers and periodicals to find at almost any moment that some member of a farm family has been maimed or killed in an accident related to the job of farming.

The increasing mechanization of agriculture has added to the dangers on the farm. Being kicked in the stomach by a mule would be novel today as compared to 40 years ago, but it is nothing new today to read of a farmer or his son being crushed to death by an overturning tractor.

It is not that farmers do not realize the dangers in their occupation. They do. Perhaps the key to the problem is that they daily live so near these dangers that they are prone to forget or neglect to use the precautions they know should be taken. Safety first is not as obvious to them as it is to the industrial worker who is under the constant supervision of foremen and is bound by regulations of work procedures designed to protect him.

Volumes have been written about farm safety. Space does not permit mentioning even a few of all the hints that could be given.

However, let's consider briefly
the problem of moving farm machinery on the public roads. Of course, the best advice is to stay off public roads, but that certainly is not always possible in the normal farming operation today.
Hence, steps must be taken to guard against accidents and to cut down on the death toll. The National Safety Council reports that one-third of all fatal tractor accidents occur on public roads. Up-sets and collisions head the list.
Loss of control and falling from the tractor also take a heavy toll.
Extra riders on the tractor are involved in many cases. One of the big factors in accidents involving tractors and machinery on public roads is that the motorist usually misjudges his own speed and the relative slowness with which farm equipment moves.

Here are some hints on using public roads to move farm machinery.

Plan the farm work so that there will be a minimum movement of farm equipment on heavily travelled roads.

Always keep the tractor under control, slowing down for turns and leaving the tractor in gear on downgrades.

Permit only experienced operators possessing mature judgment
to handle farm machinery on public roads. Never permit extra riders on the tractor.

Locate entrances to fields and farm yards at such places that there will be good visibility for both the farm machinery operator
and the automobile driver.

Red flags prominently displayed on machinery will help catch the motorist's attention by day. Approved lighting should be used at night. Such safety lights need to outline extreme projections of the farm machinery. Reflective tape pasted on protruding parts of the machinery also will be helpful at night.

The farm machinery operator should know and conform to the local traffic laws just the same as the motorist when on public roads.

Courtesy will make friends and help prevent accidents. Pull off the road to let faster traffic
through, and keep wide machinery
from protruding into adjoining traffic lanes.

Never forget that farm machinery and farm work is dangerous.
To be careless may be fatal.

Sawlog Prices Higher Than '55

The latest crop report on timber products showed a slight increase over a year ago in prices paid for sawlogs throughout most of the state according to Martin Anderson, chairman of the Illinois Technical Foresters Association committee on marketing and utilization. The report, covering the period of July and August was published by the Illinois Co-operating Crop Reporting Service. Greatest
increase in prices reported by cooperating millmen was recorded in the southern one-third of the state.
Slight increases also occurred in northern Illinois while a slight decrease was reported in the central zone. Some state average prices paid per thousand board feet at sawmills were white oak $43.00,
red oak $37.00, water oak $30.00,
walnut $78.00, hard maple $38.00,
ash $40.00, yellow poplar $42.00,
hickory $31.00, soft maple $39.00, bottomland softwoods $31.00, and others $29.00.

Reported prices paid for commercial and container veneer showed wide variations because of the small volumes marketed, but averaged higher than a year ago. Coop-erage prices showed little change.

For purposes of reporting Anderson stated, the state is divided into four zones representing similar utilization standards and price ranges. The averages of the purchase prices of all buyers who report within each zone and the range of these prices appear on the prepared timber market report. Prices are reported for commercial veneer, container veneer, cooperage,
sawlogs, the cuts, piling, mine materials, and pulpwood.

A copy of the report can be obtained from the Crop Reporting Service in Springfield or from any forestry office.

Report Findings By Kaskaskia Log Skidding Study

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Load
weight, skidding method and ground slope rather than the number and size of logs influence the tractive force required to skid a load of logs out of the woods.

That is one of the findings in a log skidding study at the Kaskaskia Experimental Forest (Hardin county) reported by David E. Herrick, forest products technologist in the Carbonada U. S. Forest Research Center at Southern Illinois University. Herrick supervised the study.

The Kaskaskia Forest is the 3-000-acre outdoor laboratory attached to the Center for forestry research. Cooperating with the Forest Service in the skidding study were Southern Illinois university and a number of machinery manufacturing and distributing firms.
Much of the field work on the study was done during the summer of 1954.

Here are some summarized findings:

1. On level ground the power required to skid log loads may be reduced over 30 percent by using log skulkies instead of straight ground skidding.

2. Quite naturally, the power needed for skidding by either method increases in going uphill
and decreases in going downhill,
the effort increasing or decreasing proportionately to the steepness of the slope.

3. The advantage of the skulky
over ground skidding increases
with downhill hauls but decreases
when going uphill. Herrick says it required nearly 2,600 pounds of tractive effort to ground skid a 5,000-pound load down a 30 percent slope but only 1,300 pounds when skidding with a skulky. To skid the same load up the slope required 6,000 pounds of pull by the ground method and 5,350
pounds by the skulky method.

Herrick says the skidding tests
were made with black oak logs
over a smooth, dry, silty-clay loam soil. The results could be applied to logs of other hardwood species of the same general surface and density characteristics, such as other oaks and possibly hickories
and hard maple.

Tips on Traffic Safety

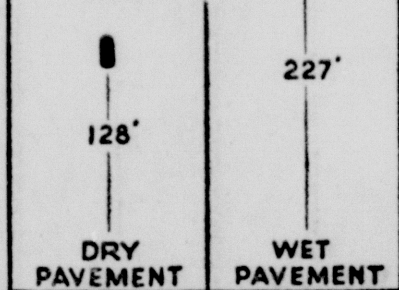

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

The danger of driving a vehicle too fast for conditions can never be stressed enough. Let us take, for instance, an auto traveling at 40 miles an hour on dry pavement in the city or a residential section.

If a child suddenly darts out onto the street only 40 feet ahead of you—that's approximately the length of two autos—you would hit the child before the normal reaction time of $\frac{1}{4}$ of a second had set in and you had applied your foot to the brake. Going at 40 miles an hour, the average driver travels 44 feet before reacting to an emergency.

And after having hit the brake
and before coming to a stop a combined total of 128 feet would have been covered by the vehicle. This is on dry pavement. On wet pavement, it would take an additional 59 feet to come to a complete stop.

AVERAGE STOPPING DISTANCES AT 40 M.P.H.

These figures show, once again,
what a potent weapon the automobile is in the hands of a driver who does not heed the rules of the road and drive safely at all times. There is no set safe speed for any road or highway. There may be a maximum speed, but this is not a safe speed if conditions dictate otherwise.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request.
Write to CHARLES F. CARPEN-TIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Dairying Can Be Profitable

One dairy farmer can't do much about milk and feed prices, but he can do something about keeping his feed costs in line, as dairymen Arden Baie of Waterman has been doing.

Records he keeps in the Illinois
Valley Farm Bureau Farm Management Association show that his 20-cow dairy herd returned $220
for every $100 he spent for feed in 1954. Average for all members in such associations in Illinois was $144, lowest in 22 years.

Baie has been 40 percent above
the average since he started keeping records in 1947.

Here are some tips on how he handles his dairy herd:

1. He feeds home-grown grain in a mixture of 500 pounds of ground ear corn, 500 pounds of ground oats and 100 pounds of protein concentrate. Protein is equal parts of soybean oil meal, cottonseed meal and linseed oil meal.

2. He feeds quality roughage and doesn't have to feed grain to dry cows and bred heifers. With good management of alfalfa hay and pasture, he can cut his supplement needs by one-third.

3. He feeds according to production—a pound of grain to 6 pounds
of milk—and culls the low producers. He doesn't set production records with this type of management,
but he has averaged over 10,000 pounds of milk per cow for the past two years.

4. He raises calves at low cost.
Calves get pelleted commercial feed for a month or two. Then they get out, a high vitamin A mineral and a little 32 percent protein supplement.

5. He breeds his cows to calve

in the fall so that he sells his bea-vy production on a good market.

Davy Crockett Movie

Made on Ohio River

On WSIL-TV Sunday

The Davy Crockett moving picture taken on the Ohio river near Cave-in-Rock the past summer will be presented on the Disneyland program over WSIL-TV at 6:30 p.
m. Sunday.
Title of the picture is "Davy Crockett and the Keel Boat Race."
Fess Parker is starred in the fea-

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN L. CUSIC whose marriage of Nov. 17 took place at the Miami Beach Community church in Miami Beach, Fla. Mrs. Cusic is the former Miss Carole Lynn Shain, daughter of Mrs. Maxine Oberzut, formerly of Harrisburg but more recently of Miami Beach.

Miss Carole Lynn Shain, Norman Cusic Wed.
In Miami Beach, Fla.

Miss Carole Lynn Shain, daughter of Mrs. Maxine Oberzut, Miami Beach, Fla., and the late Hayward Shain, became the bride of Norman L. Cusic, son of Mrs. Ruth Cusic, 509 West Lincoln, and the late Cecil Cusic, in a candlelight ceremony held Thursday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, at the Miami Beach Community church.

The Rev. R. Wiley Scott performed the double ring service.

The bride chose for her wedding a ballerina length gown of chantilly lace over satin, styled with a fitted bodice, and a matching lace jacket which came to points over the hands, and a Peter Pan collar. A lace and sequined tiara held her fingertip veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of orchids, tubed stephanotis and baby carnations.

Miss Susan Hayward Shain, in pale pink nylon and lace, was junior bridesmaid for her sister. She wore a headband of pink sweet-heart roses, and carried a miniatur colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses and baby carnations.

Mrs. Oberzut wore for her daughter's wedding a gray sheath dress with matching jacket and white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mr. Oberzut, who gave the bride in marriage, also served as best man for the bridegroom.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in North Miami Beach. A late wedding supper was held at the Cathay House.

Mr. and Mrs. Cusic both attended the Harrisburg city schools.

After a brief wedding trip to Key West, Fla., they will be at home at 825 West Avenue, Miami Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Lonnie Lamkin Hostess to Candlelight Home Bureau Unit

The Candlelight Home Bureau unit met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Lonnie Lamkin with Mrs. John Foster, chairman, presiding over the meeting.

Program booklets for the coming year were distributed.

Mrs. Earl Clark gave the minor lesson, "Making Fabric Scallops" and Mrs. Harry Harper, home adviser, presented the major topic, "Time for Things We Want to Do."

Mrs. Lamkin was assisted by Mrs. Glenn Wallace, Mrs. James McGowan and Mrs. Don Williams in serving refreshments to Mrs. Earl Clark, Mrs. Harold Empson, Mrs. John Foster, Mrs. Olen Ingram, Mrs. John Slightom, Mrs. Ed Cole, Mrs. John Wagner, Mrs. Harold Hansen, Mrs. Joe Hollingsworth and guests, Mrs. Arthur Franks, Mrs. Lawrence Caluffetti and Mrs. W. J. Calvert.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertis Dixon Honored With Shower

A wedding shower was held at the home of Mrs. Julia Ridley in Ledford recently in honor of her granddaughter, Mrs. Bertis W. Dixon, and husband of Chicago.

Bingo prizes were won by several.

Those present were Roselee Patton, Vivian Burans, Hallie Waltz, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Ridley, Donna Sue Mattingly, Maggie Walls, Mrs. Fannie Boote, Grace Riley, Nora Sauls, Della Simpson, Ethel Lynch, Frances Lightfoot, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Dixon and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mattingly, Nell Hancock, Winnie Bean, Ada Thompson, Margie Ridley, Ruth Shell, Wilma Prather, Michael Prather, Sue Ellen Ridley, Annis Wallace, Wavel Roberts, Ramon Judy and Beverly Boote, Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Boote and Eunice Hicks.

Several sent gifts who could not be present.

Dr. B. A. Tate, former dentist in Harrisburg whose home is now in Larned, Kansas, is visiting with his brother, Avery Tate, 806 North Main.

Mrs. Virgil Johns of Johns cafe is taking a vacation this week, during which she has visited her children, Mrs. Louise Hamilton and Paul Morgan, Rochester, Mich., and Miss Barbara Morgan, Detroit.

Woman's Club to Have Program on Citizenship

The Harrisburg Woman's club will meet Monday at 2 p. m. in the club room of the public library for a program on Citizenship. Mrs. Clarence Bosket will be program chairman.

The meditation will be given by Mrs. Herman Davis after which Mrs. Perry Moore will present a program of musical selections. The topic, "What About Harrisburg," will be discussed by a panel composed of Mrs. D. H. Hiller, Mrs. Ray Johnson, Mrs. Hudson Mugge and Mrs. Carl Rude. Hostesses will be Mrs. L. M. Hancock, Mrs. Royce Cline and Mrs. F. G. Burnett.

Republican County Chairmen's School November 28-29

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Republican county chairmen from all of Illinois' 102 counties will meet in Springfield, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 28 and 29, to attend the first Illinois Republican County Chairmen's School to be conducted under the auspices of the Illinois Republican State Central committee.

State Central Committeeman George P. Johns of Decatur, chairman of the school, today announced the program of the training session which will include discussions held by some of the country's prominent Republican leaders.

Highlighting the first day's sessions to be held in the Leland hotel will be a discussion of "Fundamentals of Campaign Organization" by Murray Chotiner of California. Chotiner has served as campaign director for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, both when he was elected to his present post in 1952 and during his 1950 campaign for United States senator.

Climaxing the school will be a luncheon to be held in the Leland hotel ballroom at which Gov. William G. Stratton will be the "commencement" speaker.

Johns emphasized that all sessions of the Illinois Republican County Chairmen's School will be closed to the public including both the luncheons which will be held Monday and Tuesday noon.

"This will be," he stated, "a work session in which we will pool the best available information on the various facets of political campaigning."

Morton H. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Illinois Republican State Central committee, stated, "Our goal is, that out of this school will come a series of similar training sessions to be held at the county or district level."

U. S. to Resume H-Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will unleash the power of the H-bomb again next spring in tests at the Eniwetok proving grounds in the Pacific.

Plans for resumption of H-bomb tests were disclosed Friday only a day after the Atomic Energy Commission announced Russia had set off a superbomb.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), a member of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said the United States "will launch another series of special weapons tests next spring in the Pacific."

He and other high sources denied the tests were postponed for international political reasons and then put back on schedule because of the new Soviet H-bomb test.

"There has been no postponement, no cancellation," Van Zandt said. "They are proceeding on schedule."

Rites Sunday for Mrs. Floyd Jennings

Funeral services for Mrs. Floyd Jennings, Harrisburg woman who died Thursday in an ambulance en route to a hospital in St. Louis, will be held Sunday at 10:30 a. m. at the Baptist Mission in East Harrisburg. Rev. Floyd Lacy will officiate and burial will be in Ingram Hill cemetery. The body lies in state at the home of her mother, Mrs. Stella Horton, in Ledford. The Gibbons funeral home is in charge.

Woman, Three Children Die in Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—Three young children and their great-aunt were killed when fire swept a five-room frame house in suburban East Chicago Heights today.

The children's uncle, volunteer Fire Chief Sam Kamp, watched helplessly as his home burned to the ground.

The dead were Kamp's mother, Mrs. Ella Kamp, 66, and his nieces and nephew, Frances Brock, 10; Cynthia, 8, and Harrison, 7.

The children's mother was visiting friends at the time of the fire. Police said the victims died in their beds and the cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Meanwhile, three Chicago children were seriously burned in another blaze.

Establish Junior Historical Memorial Award

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Establishment of the John H. Hauberg Memorial Award of $25 to be presented to the state's outstanding junior historian at the end of the school year was announced yesterday by Illinois State Historian Dr. Harry E. Pratt. The award will be given by the Illinois State Historical Society.

At the same time Dr. Pratt said that as an additional memorial to Hauberg the Rotary club of Rock Island will present an appropriately inscribed plaque to the teacher making the year's outstanding contribution to the Illinois Junior Historian program.

Judging for the award will be on articles, drawings or photographs on Illinois history published during the 1955-56 school year in the Illinois Junior Historian magazine. All material in the magazine is produced by students of junior high school age in nearly 500 schools throughout the state. Eight issues are published yearly on a non-profit basis under the sponsorship of the Illinois State Historical Society.

The program, in its ninth year, is directed by George A. Pownall. In February the magazine will publish its eighth annual Abraham Lincoln issue, which has become a Lincoln collectors' item.

John H. Hauberg, whom the awards will honor, died on Nov. 13. He was a Rock Island civic leader and philanthropist, and a past president of the State Historical Society. With Dr. O. F. Ander, professor of history at Augustana College, he was responsible for the establishment of the Illinois Junior Historian program.

Parents Sentenced For Neglecting Children

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—Municipal Judge Howard Durocher sentenced the parents of five children to jail terms for child neglect.

He sentenced Charles Hardy to six months in county jail and his wife Betty Jane to one year in the women's prison.

Dist. Atty. Dexter Black said the five Hardy children had been looking in garbage cans for food and begged cigarettes on the street.

Warren Will Be Top Dignitary at Army-Navy Grid Game

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Earl Warren, the Chief Justice of the United States, will be the "ranking" dignitary at today's Army-Navy classic.
According to Washington's protocol, the Chief Justice ranks after the President, vice president and secretary of state—none of whom will be present.
Other notables who will attend are Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, Postmaster General Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Galatia Climbs to First Place Tie With 66-63 Win

Galatia climbed into a tie with Shawneetown for leadership of the Greater Egyptian conference by winning over Pope County 66-63 Friday night. The game was played at Galatia.

Galatia and Shawneetown are alone at the top of the loop standings, each with three wins and no losses.
The Bearcats were paced to victory by J. Tate, who collected 10 field goals and a like number of free tosses to total 30 points. Green was Pope County's top scorer with 18.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way. Galatia held an 18-15 first quarter lead, the score was knotted 35-35 at half time, Galatia was on top 45-44 after three quarters and won by 66-63.

The preliminary also was a thriller, Galatia also taking it by three points, 46-43.

Galatia will be idle until next Friday, travelling to Vienna for a league game.

The box score:

Galatia (66)	FG	FT	TP	PF
J. Tate	10	10	30	3

Duffy Daugherty Coach of Year IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan State has labeled its gridiron professor, Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, as the "comeback coach of the year" and it is the first time in memory that a school has under-sold itself.

Not that Daugherty didn't lead the Spartans to a magnificent gridiron comeback this season. Just a year ago they wound it up with a record of three wins against six losses and this season they are heading for the Rose Bowl with an eight-and-one mark.

They can knock off that "comeback" part.
Daugherty, as far as this corner is concerned, must be the coach of the year in collegiate grid circles.

Sure, there were coaches with better or just as good records. Jim Tatum at Maryland and Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma turned out unbeaten teams; Red Sanders at UCLA was beaten only once and Bear Bryant at Texas A&M pulled a lot of rabbits out of the hat.

However, it must be admitted that Tatum, Wilkinson and Sanders all "had the horses." Bryant brought the Texas Aggies out of nowhere to surprise the Southwest Conference—but a weaker schedule legislates against the Aggies.

They played a lot of tough teams yet they weren't of the caliber of the Michigan State foes. Daugherty's demons lost to Michigan in their lone setback. But they handed Notre Dame its only defeat and flogged such as Stanford, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Purdue, Minnesota and Marquette.

Daugherty was on the spot. A Syracuse graduate, he served one year there as Biggie Munn's assistant and then, when Munn moved to Michigan State, he went along and put in eight more years as an underdog aide.

When Biggie, one of the real great coaches, became athletic director after leading Michigan State to a 28-20 Rose Bowl win over UCLA two years ago, Duffy moved up to head coaching spot. He inherited a loser, one depleted by graduation.

A Sad Beginning
Duffy, who hails from Barnesboro, Pa., took all the blame for that three wins and six losses season a year ago. It was a sad beginning for a freshman coach but Daugherty showed a lot of moxie.

Nobody, however, ever questioned him in that department. During World War II he went in as a private and saw action in three South Pacific campaigns. When he came marching home, Duffy was a major.

Now, with a vindicating season behind him, he is on another spot. In the nine years of the Big 10-Pacific Coast Conference Rose Bowl pact, the Big 10 has won eight of the "closed" Rose Bowl games. In that time, the Big 10 has scored 233 points compared with 89 for the PCC.

This season, in inter-conference play, the PCC has won four games and lost three. Naturally its hopes are high for a UCLA win Jan. 2 over the Spartans. UCLA has another goading point. Last year when it was undefeated it couldn't go back because it had played in the bowl the year before. Duffy has a job stopping them.

But, win, lose or draw, he still has to be everybody's coach of the year.

What's happened to democracy on the professional gridiron? where a four-team minority blocks the National Football League's efforts to get rid of "dirty football" by insisting on retention of the rule that lets a runner bounce up after he's been down . . . and invites pile-on tackling. . . . It takes 10 of 12 votes for a change. . . .

With all the big guns Navy has played this year — Notre Dame, Pitt, Duke, et al — the best lineman he's seen, says Coach Eddie Erdelatz, is a guard you never heard of—William and Mary's Lou Corbett. . . .

His Baltimore mates have promoted Alan (The Horse) Ameche, their rookie ground pacer . . . call him "The Mule" now. . . . Ameche's big surprise in pro ball has been his ability to go wide—the pros didn't think he had the speed . . . just like they didn't think another rookie sensation, the Bears' Rick Casares, was fast enough to play offense . . . and all he's got is the league's best ground-gaining average and longest run from scrimmage (81 yards). . . .

If you're wondering why the Cleveland Browns ever traded Bert Rechichar, one of the finest defensive backs around, it's because Maestro Paul didn't like Bert's one-time interest in baseball—he still holds an amazing Tri-State league record of five assists in one game for an outfielder. . . .

Red Blaik doesn't waste any time studying the results of a Saturday afternoon . . . by seven o'clock the same evening he's got the game films already developed and his assistants huddled far into the night. . . . Red still thinks the pros are fat and lazy (one of his assistants, a pro aficionado, can't get time off on Sunday to hike down to New York to watch the Giants). . . .

When Pat McKnight, the SMU Mustang now playing for New York, recovered a goal line fumble the other Sunday, Coach Jim Howell got so worked up he rushed over to plant a kiss on Pat's dirt-crusted cheek. . . . "Look out, Coach," Pat backed off, "I still got my plastic mask on."

Early Hot Stove yarn: Cholly Dressen has his troubles with the Senator Spanish-speaking contingent, particularly Cuban character Carlos Paula. . . . this day Carlos was parked on third with the potential winning run, one out and the batter hits a long, long fly to center. . . . you could crawl home from third. . . . but Carlos wants to beat the gun. . . . Cholly, to make sure he tags up after the ball is caught, yells, "Go back! Go back!" "He 'go back' all right," muses Dressen, "only he stays right there and won't budge, and I'm screaming my head off."

It's been four seasons since the University of San Francisco played football, but what a representation that last 1951 Don team has in the NFL. . . . the ChiCards' Olle Matson, football's greatest running threat; the ChiBears' quarterback phenom, Ed Brown; Gino Marchetti of the Colts, who's developed into the toughest defensive end in the game; tackle Bob St. Clair, an all-pro power on the line; and Ralph Thomas, Red Stephens and Joe Scudero, all Redskins regulars, and coached, of course, by Joe Kuharich—also of the '51 USF team.

Behind Red Sanders' success at UCLA is his thorough exploitation of the junior college transfer system. . . . including an alleged farm team just 20 minutes from the campus in Los Angeles Valley JC. . . .

Between you'n me, the danger spot in pro basketball is, of all places, Minneapolis, with the greatest record of success, but now in the throes of apathy—financially and artistically.

Six Sailors Hurt in Auto Accident
ORANGE, Conn. (AP)—Six sailors were hospitalized today with injuries suffered in an automobile accident on the Wilbur Cross Parkway.

Police said the sailors' car overturned several times when it struck the center esplanade after attempting to pass another car.

Among those injured was Durwood Baker, 21, Cressville, Ill.

All were crew members of the USS Peterson, stationed at the Newport, R. I., naval base.

Shawneetown Wins, 87 to 35

The Shawneetown Indians racked up victory number five Friday night, running over Grayville 87-35. The game was played at Shawneetown.

The winners got away to a fast start, holding a 21-1 advantage after the first quarter and were on top 38-11 at half time. After three quarters Shawneetown held a 68-18 lead.

Shawneetown's second team played the entire last quarter. The Indians shot 47 per cent from the field, with Gunzel hitting a fine 9 for 11.

The scoring — Shawneetown: Gunzel 18, Maynard 13, Nolen 12, Crane 12, Drone 10, Stewart 5, Ellis 5, Thrallkill 4, Coleman 3, Shell 2, Monroe 2 and Hughes 1; Grayville: B. Edwards 19, T. Edwards 1, Belew 2, Treadway 1, L. Lingfelter 4, R. Lingfelter 4, Crocker 4.

Argentine Boxer Offers $50,000 For Shot at Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Sluggish Eduardo Lausse of Argentine, who registered his 30th straight victory by outpointing rugged Gene Fullmer Friday night, offered a $50,000 guarantee today for a shot at the middleweight crown.

Manager Charley Johnston telegraphed the offer to champion Bobo Olson and ex-champ Sugar Ray Robinson, who fight for the title at Chicago, Dec. 9.

Johnston said, "Lausse showed Friday night at Madison Square Garden that he can whip any middleweight in the world. So I sent out the offer today. I didn't wait until his next fight with Johnny Sullivan."

Despite a small cut at the corner of Eduardo's right brow, the fourth-ranking contender will be able to fight Sullivan of England in the 10-round semi-final of the big Christmas fund show at Cleveland, Dec. 7, Dr. Vincent Nardiello said.

Lausse, 28, suffered the cut in the fourth round of his thrilling TV-radio 10-rounder with ninth-ranking Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, an amazingly tough coppermine machinist who provided such stiff competition that he made the 16-5 odds appear ridiculous. The 4,000 fans cheered throughout.

Lausse weighed 159½ pounds; Fullmer, 156½.
Lausse, who had knocked out 25 of his previous 29 opponents, registered his 60th victory in 68 professional bouts. It was Gene's third defeat in 35.

Rockford West Opens Season With 76-62 Win

By United Press
The 1955 Illinois high school basketball champion team, Rockford West, started things off with a 76-62 victory over Davenport, Iowa, in cage competition Friday night.

Other "Sweet Sixteen" schools of last spring which racked up wins included Moline, 54-43 over Rock Island Alleman, and Rich Township over Downers Grove 73-56.

But Alton bowed to Gillespie 70-67. Another mild upset was Highland over Edwardsville 87-80. Highland went to the state tourney in 1952 and the victory may have served notice the giant killers are on their way again.

Mount Vernon and Centralia, perennial powers of Egypt, had easy wins, the Rams 64-35 over Fairfield and Centralia 63-43 over Sparta.

Mount Olive was surprisingly strong against Springfield Cathedral, beating the Cyclones 56-40. Freeport won impressively 71-52 from Dixon. St. Bede blasted Ottawa 56-35.

La Grange and Harvey Thornton, always Suburban League threats, were winners. The Lions beat Argo 77-48 and Thornton defeated Proviso 57-50.

Viggo Sand had followed instructions to the letter. When he knocked at his door we had to identify ourselves explicitly before he opened it.

The big man flung himself loosely back in his chair and simply stared at us. No two ravens could ever have become as intimately associated in his mind with sheer bad news as we were.

"Mr. Dibble," Lynch said, "will no doubt have told you that we found the chests."

Sand ponderously nodded. Not even that cheered him.

"But of what good? Each hour I now question as to whether I shall be alive in the next hour."

"There is nothing I am sure," said Lynch briskly, "which cannot be satisfactorily arranged. We know the exact location of the remaining chests. They are readily accessible and darkness has now fallen. I advise you to have Carey take the yacht at once to the quay where we lay last night and get them. If you have some dependable men who could rig a hoist at the edge of the west gun parapet. At that point the cliff drops sheer to the water. Manhandling them down the trail is not impossible, but it would take some time. At this moment that is not a commodity in which any of us are very rich."

In a matter of seconds Sand had pounced on the hand phone and was barking orders in all directions.

The Danish chief engineer, duly accompanied by two others, was summoned to the bridge and Lynch briefly explained the problem involved in erecting a temporary hand hoist by which the heavy boxes could be lowered directly to the sea.

The whole operation had been conducted with a minimum of fuss and in extraordinary quiet. The silence was so absolute I fancied I could hear the muted voices of insects in the dark woods on shore. It was interrupted by a far-off splash. No doubt a fish jumping.

The splash came again. And, after the lapse of no more than 30 seconds, again. It was rather curious.

At the fourth identical splash, perhaps a trifle louder than the ones which had gone before, Carey came to the bridge rail and leaned forward to peer into the night.

Lynch, standing just beside me, had been slouching on his elbows. I felt rather than saw him gradually stiffen, then stand upright. There was still another splash.

Carey had brought the Vittoria around in a wide circle and was now lining her up for the delicate maneuver of running us on a straight course directly into the narrow rectangle of the concrete-sided slip. The high cliffs dead ahead and the dense shadows looked as black as the depths of a cave.

By contrast, the starlit immensity of space above the cliffs seemed almost bright. There was another, and even louder splash.

Without turning, Lynch suddenly shot out his left hand and peremptorily snapped his fingers.

"Captain! If you please. Have you some night glasses?"
Carey disappeared in the chart room and obediently came back with some heavy binoculars which he put into Lynch's still outstretch-

Through the Centuries...

Through cold, snow-covered fields, underneath ice-encrusted trees, the river runs its course.

This brings to mind the Christian Church. It was founded upon the teachings of Jesus who lived His life and did His work unperturbed by the coldness of many of His fellowmen and of the ruling officials. He knew that His work would stand because it was founded upon truth. It not only stood, but has flowed steadily on for centuries. It is still going on today in His churches.

If you do not attend church services why not go this coming Sunday, and identify yourself with this steady flow of the best for which life stands?

There is always room in the river for one more drop of water. There is always room in the Church for one more worshipper.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Spread of the Good News'

GOLDEN TEXT: "The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth laborers unto his harvest." (Luke 10:2)

INTRODUCTION: The word "gospel" means "good news." Salvation through Jesus Christ is the "good news." This gospel had to be told throughout the land.

Jesus chose the Twelve Apostles. He trained them. He sent them out to spread the good news over all the land. This was missions in its infancy. Today we have missionaries at home and abroad — telling the same good news.

However, we are sorry to say there are still some people who have never heard the gospel story. Not all of them are in foreign lands. Some are at home.

I JESUS, THE MISSIONARY (8:1)
"He went throughout every city and village, preaching and showing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God; and the twelve were with him." Jesus is always the perfect example. Here we see him going throughout the land spreading the good news. He was teaching his disciples how to preach. My! what any preacher today would give to have the privilege that they had.

Jesus had missionary spirit and vision. We need it today. All too often people today build church buildings and then wait for the folks to come to worship. It did not work that way in Jesus' day. It will not work that way today. The good news must be taken out to where the people are found. They must be invited to come into the church.

Some folks think that God blesses ignorance in the ministry. This is not true. Jesus spent three years training and educating those first Twelve missionary preachers. Every man, called of God to be a preacher, is duty bound to prepare himself the best he can for service.

Additional Church Notes On Page Three

II JESUS DEMANDS ATTENTION (8:4-8)

Some folks think it makes no difference whether or not they listen to the good news. They are mistaken! Hear Jesus cry out: "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear."

Jesus had just told the parable of the sower. Some of the seeds that he sowed fell by the wayside and were trodden underfoot, and the birds devoured it. Some of the seeds fell upon rock. As soon as these seeds sprang up they withered and died, because they lacked moisture. Some seed fell among thorns, and the thorns choked it. However, Jesus said that "some of the seed fell upon good ground, and it sprang up, and bare fruit a hundredfold."

When asked to explain the parable, he told them that the seed is "the Word of God. Those by the wayside are they that hear; then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved." Some folks receive the good news like the seed that fell on the rock. They do not give it enough thought for the Word of God to take root and live in them.

However, some people are like the "good ground." Having heard the Word, they keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience. "He that hath ears to hear," Jesus says, "let him hear."

CONCLUSION (9:1-6): Jesus, after setting the example, sent his disciples out to do the same work. He sent them to preach and spread the gospel. He gave them specific instructions. Every Christian today is commissioned by Christ to witness for him daily. In this way, we are all missionaries in spreading the good news. Are you doing your share?
